

Mygeni - Manifesto

Together we can

Mygeni understands that each of us views our world differently and each one of us is the centre of our own unique space. We all have valuable information to share with our friends and family that could enhance their lives, from favorite surf breaks, recommended music and top restaurants to green sustainability products and holiday destinations.

This natural sharing of information requires time and personal contact to occur, things that we seldom seem to find time for with our ever-changing and demanding lifestyles. Mygeni restores this ability to you so that you can share information in an intimate and relevant way where your privacy is protected and respected.

At Mygeni we honor you and your efforts. We share our revenue with you and your community. This share of revenue is based on the fact that, without you, there is no Mygeni. We acknowledge that and reward you for being a user and a contributor.

For every piece of content you create that someone else views, you receive a 15% share in the revenue Mygeni generates from the advertising placed alongside your content. An additional 15% share of revenue is given to your community; this is based on where you live or which territory you choose to work with, for the purpose of developing sustainable projects locally have been selected by the group for implementation. An additional 10% revenue is available to all NGO and Charity organizations that utilize the Mygeni platform for communication and facilitation within their community.

We all need to take control of our world and effect change by sharing and acting on great ideas and information; honoring and respecting all according to their contribution to the whole.

We hope you enjoy the experience of sharing your world with us.
